Association Membership Now Open Without Referrals

To retain only prestigious membership in the Association of Christian Education, institutions only referred by other member institutions were invited for accreditation of Christian education and excellence.

In a vote 4-1 by the Board, the Association of Christian Education will be open for any institution to apply until otherwise amended by the Board.

The Association of Christian Education welcomes any institution which serves Christian Education to apply and voluntarily demonstrate to the public the institutions' assiduity to offering programs of the highest academic quality through a peer-reviewed process.

Accreditation by the Association of Christian Education does not replace a program or institution assessment from organizations approved by the Council of Higher Education Accreditation but serves in addition to the rigorous standards of inspection expected from higher education.

In addition to accreditation, members of the Association of Christian Education will receive exemplary support and benefits which include institution organization counseling, faculty competency verification, credit transfer network, and graphic design assistance.
